

A MULTI-CONNECTION CONTROL SYSTEM

ABSTRACT

The present invention discloses a multi-connection control system. Initially, one or more requests to access a system are received. For each request, it is determined whether to 5 allow access to the system using an access vector to identify an available access object.